Advantageous tax incentives and important administrative and educational assistance provided by the Catholic Church will ensure the completion and successful continuation of the Institute of Hope. The scope of this project, consisting of an English medium primary and secondary boarding school, a College of Agriculture, housing for teachers and buildings for administration, dispensary, agricultural, horticultural and research activities, requires very substantial monetary investments and wide ranging professional expertise. We are seeking the assistance and philanthropy of governments of any nation, individuals, corporations, social media and established foundations to build and sustain the Institute of Hope in Ilolangulu, Tanzania.
